Poetry Focus

“We read and write poetry because we are members of the human race. And the human race is filled with passion... Poetry, beauty, romance, love, these are what we stay alive for.”

– John Keating (played by Robin Williams)

This year, our goal was to introduce our students to a new way to express themselves and connect with each other. Our students are passionate and full of creativity; poetry gives them a new tool to share that while also playing with the English language.

Through this they may learn to appreciate a well-loved and ancient art form that is otherwise missed in day-to-day life.

Our method for doing this varied throughout the year. At first, we wanted to show how creativity can thrive in poetry without the concern for grammar and punctuation that bogs down their views of English and haunts their exams. With that in mind, we started with finger-painting poems where students had to work together to create a painting and then immediately write about their experience.

Next, we focused on displaying the silly but structured side of poetry with limericks. The students were tasked with writing a poem as funny as they could make it and then sharing that aloud with the class.

Of course, we didn't stop there and as you read through this book, you will find many different kinds of poems and ways in which our NPMPS students have found to express themselves and their passions.

A nice day to learn,
A nice day to interview,
A nice day to explore.

interviewing viewers,
asking questions,
finding target,

Arriving and departing,

and to the plane.

- Lee Hoven

A trip to the airport

Interviewing travellers in English was a fun experience, challenging ourselves to be brave and proactive,
some said Hong Kong is clean and attractive, others said this city is organized and welcoming.

The departure board gives you all the flight information, flip flip flip oh! It is time to go on vacation,
Self-check-in your bags to have some early relaxation,
let's head to the boarding gate without hesitation.

The airport is as busy as a mini globe,
some people hurrying, rushing and running,
some people chilling, talking and laughing,
and, three, two, one, off they go

- Anya

She has a funny mind

Between the tick and tock of time,
 We find our dreams, we make them climb.
 From crayons to pens, the years unfold,
 A tapestry of stories told.
 In each line etched, a piece of us,
 Growing up, yet without rush.

- Louis Greg (Between Tick and Tock)
