Poetry Focus

“We read and write poetry because we are members of the human race. And the human race is filled with passion... Poetry, beauty, romance, love, these are what we stay alive for.”

– John Keating (played by Robin Williams)

This year, our goal was to introduce our students to a new way to express themselves and connect with each other. Our students are passionate and full of creativity; poetry gives them a new tool to share that while also playing with the English language.

Through this they may learn to appreciate a well-loved and ancient art form that is otherwise missed in day-to-day life.

Our method for doing this varied throughout the year. At first, we wanted to show how creativity can thrive in poetry without the concern for grammar and punctuation that bogs down their views of English and haunts their exams. With that in mind, we started with finger-painting poems where students had to work together to create a painting and then immediately write about their experience.

Next, we focused on displaying the silly but structured side of poetry with limericks. The students were tasked with writing a poem as funny as they could make it and then sharing that aloud with the class.

Of course, we didn't stop there and as you read through this book, you will find many different kinds of poems and ways in which our NPMPS students have found to express themselves and their passions.

Poetry of the Year!

Through the Year

MY Teddy Bear

I love my teddy bear, I can carry him everywhere!

But today I lost him, I tried to find him but he was no where to be found.

I tried to think so I looked in some obvious spots like...

My bed! because my teddy bear was always there.

But not today!

Sometimes, he could be found in our washing Machine, spinning around, trying to get clean.

But not today!

Sometimes, when the weather is sunny and fine, he swings around on the washing line.

But definitely not today!

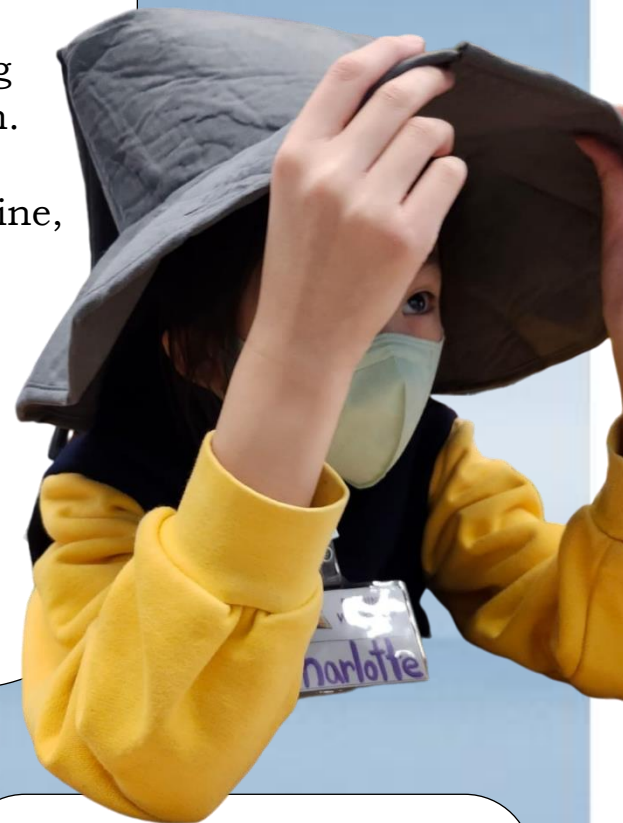

But as the day runs out of light

And the sky turns on the night,

I find him at last, in the best place

To be, propped up on my bed just waiting For me!

Between the tick and tock of time,
 We find our dreams, we make them climb.
 From crayons to pens, the years unfold,
 A tapestry of stories told.
 In each line etched, a piece of us,
 Growing up, yet without rush.
